

Ei Thinzar Naing

Back-End Developer

4th February 2025

To whom it may concern,

Ei Thinzar Naing is a very passionate Back-End Developer. She worked with us actively and she finished her tasks within the deadlines.

She performed really well as a volunteer and she received very good feedbacks from her teammates. As a founder, I've seen her hard work and she also attended the meetings without being late or absent. She listens to her teammates and also gave suggestions.

As a founder, I really appreciate her and proud to have her as a volunteer. She is very talented and skilled in her career. She is also very kind and cheerful person, which are her best personalities. Since she puts lots of hard work in the projects and the team, she got many experiences from us and she knows how to work in a team. I believe she will get many opportunities ahead and I trust in her skills.

Best Regards,
